

WEST MUST WAIT ON OLD NEW YORK

Resumption of Currency Payments Cannot Be Accomplished Otherwise.

CHARLES S. BURTON AND
W. S. McCORMICK TALK

W. J. Halloran Tells of the Plans of the Commercial Club.

Reports from Chicago regarding the recent action of the Clearing-House association of that city in sending letters to the bankers of the Middle West and Western sections of the country asking them to express opinions on the general financial situation indicate a movement among the banking men of that city to bring about a resumption of cash payments for all transactions as soon as possible. This information, coming, as it does, immediately after the statement that the banking institutions of Chicago were well supplied with ready money, and that there would be no difficulty in resuming cash payments there if banks in other cities were in a position to do the same, has occasioned considerable comment among the banking men of this city.

The opinion has been expressed in banking circles in Salt Lake that the cause of the present financial stringency lay with New York and that the necessity for the refusal of the banks here to pay out cash arose from the refusal of the New York banks to do so. Any action on the part of Chicago, then, which suggested a resumption of cash payments before New York did so seemed to banking men here, as one man expressed it, like the action of the small boy in offering to arrest a policeman.

Waiting on New York.

Charles S. Burton, cashier of the State Bank of Utah, was asked Saturday what action the banks of Salt Lake were taking in connection with the banks of other cities to restore the payment of accounts in cash instead of in cashiers' checks with a view of forcing New York to open its doors.

"The banks of Salt Lake are not taking any action at all," said Mr. Burton. "There is nothing that we can do except to wait until the doors are opened at the source of supply. It would be absurd for anybody to suggest that Salt Lake to attempt to resume cash payments until New York does so, because the banks would very soon be drained of every cent they had and would then be in a worse position than they were before. The relief must come from outside, and the President and Secretary of the Treasury, assisted by the greatest financiers of the country, are doing everything they can to bring about some relief. We have reports only today that J. P. Morgan has had a long conference with the President as to what means could be taken to relieve the situation. Nothing has been given out as yet, but it is understood that the leading financiers of the country have under consideration schemes for the relief of the financial stringency. And whatever action is taken by the Government to relieve the nation will help Salt Lake. Panama bonds and the certificates of indebtedness were one of the first acts taken by the Government, and will undoubtedly result in some relief as soon as the matter has had time to mature."

Mr. Burton alluded to the fact that the American Smelting and Refining company, which has one of its refineries at Omaha, where it was turning out an approximate average of $200,000 of bullion a day, had sold some of its bullion to the Government, and that the Government in exchange had in turn been used to pay their employees in this section.

"Something like $100,000 has been shipped in to pay the employees of the three big smelters near Salt Lake," said Mr. Burton. "We have reports that the Government is clearing the situation, but they are a drop in the bucket when any community outside of our own center is considered."

W. S. McCormick Talks.

W. S. McCormick of W. S. McCormick & Co. was asked if he knew of any large concerns in Salt Lake which might have gold or silver bullion which they could sell to the Government and obtain therefor currency which could then be put into circulation in some way.

Mr. McCormick said: "I think that there are no such concerns in Salt Lake. I understand, however, that the American Smelting and Refining company and the United States Smelter company have both shipped into the city currency raised from the Government with which to pay the wages of their employees, and that action has doubtless assisted the tightness of the stringency here. There are many communities, however, where there are large smelters and refineries which have on hand bullion which could sell to the Government in exchange for cash. That is one of the ways in which the currency is put into circulation, and those firms which can take advantage of their position to do such a thing assist themselves and the country as well."

W. J. Halloran, president of the Commercial club, said Saturday afternoon that the club was arranging to hold a meeting some time next week, probably Wednesday or Thursday, the date depending on the return of Solomon Guggenheim and S. W. Eccles to this city. The purpose of this meeting is to bring about a discussion of means of relieving the present financial situation.

Whether the club will do more than pass resolutions stating the willingness of the commercial bodies of Salt Lake to co-operate in any action which might be taken by other cities could not be stated. Fisher Harris, secretary of the club, said, however, that if it should seem wise and feasible, the question of asking the Government if it would consider the purchase of silver bullion would be taken up, and that the meeting might result in the conference of the leading mine owners and other prominent men of the Western States with a view to devising a plan which would be submitted to the Western Senators and Representatives, who would be asked to take the matter up as soon as possible after Congress meets in December.

ST. MARK'S HOSPITAL IS SUED FOR DAMAGES

Widow of Linus Timby Charges
Authorities With Criminal Negligence.

As the result of the death of Linus W. Timby, who killed himself by leaping from a window at St. Mark's hospital July 14 last, while in delirium from typhoid fever, St. Mark's hospital was made defendant Friday in a $25,000 damage suit, which is instituted by Jennie Knowles Timby, widow, and Elmer Knowles Timby, infant son of the deceased.

Recovery is sought upon the ground that the hospital authorities acted negligently, in that they did not take sufficient precautions to prevent the patient from leaving his bed while in a delirious condition.

It is set out in the complaint that Mr. Timby was admitted to the hospital on July 8 and placed under the care of the hospital authorities. The complaint then goes on to state that a typhoid patient usually suffers with delirium, and, unless restrained, is likely to leave his bed and wander about in an attempt to escape.

It is further alleged that on July 13 Mr. Timby, being delirious, left his bed and wandered about the ward and that he became negligent to exercise restraint to prevent him from inflicting injury upon himself. It is then alleged that the hospital authorities negligently removed the patient from the ward and placed him in a room on the fourth floor of the hospital, about forty-five feet from the ground, and that the room was an unsafe and improper place in which to confine him.

This is followed by the allegation that on July 14, while delirious, Mr. Timby threw himself from an unbarred and unprotected window, striking the ground with such force that his skull was fractured and that his injury resulted in his death. It is set out in this connection that the hospital authorities were negligent in not restraining Mr. Timby from leaving his bed and injuring himself.

Mr. Fuller will continue his auction sale at 7 East Second South street, of jewelry, musical instruments, etc.

DRUNKEN AUSTRIANS ATTEMPT TO BREAK JAIL

Mike Adamovich, Joe Movores, Faby Spozil, Joe Thomas and Mike Mayers, Austrians, partly wrecked the Bingham Junction jail, in which they were incarcerated for intoxication, Saturday, and were brought to the county jail here for safekeeping. Instead of a trivial charge of drunkenness, they will have to stand trial now on the more serious charge of destroying property.

The Austrians were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Beckstead Friday night. Early Saturday morning friends of the prisoners appeared and offered to furnish bail for their release until trial. The bail was accepted and preparations were made to release them when it was found that the interior of the jail had been partly wrecked by the prisoners in an effort to escape. The windows were broken, part of the floor torn up and the building made uninhabitable in the cells was partly demolished.

"FLOATER" FLOATS INTO SIX MONTHS' SENTENCE

Joseph Hackett, charged with having burglarized in his possession and given a "floater" in Judge Diehl's court three days ago, like the cat, couldn't stay away, and now he can't get away. In Judge Diehl's court there was not enough evidence to convict and he was given a "floater," with an attachment in the form of a six months' sentence in the county jail should he be found in Salt Lake after twenty-four hours. Saturday afternoon Deputy Sheriff Emery and Sperry saw him on Commercial street and promptly placed him in jail, where he began his sentence.

MRS. KITTLESON IS IN CUSTODY

Deputy Sheriffs Successful in Search for Missing Montana Woman.

HUSBAND'S UNTIRING
QUEST FINDS REWARD

Woman's Son in Good Hands;
Hunt Continues for Paramour.

Mrs. Joseph Kittleson, who four months ago left her home at Missoula, Mont., with her son Arthur, aged four, and accompanied by W. H. O'Brien to this city, successfully evading the vigilance of the authorities and her husband, C. S. Kittleson, until Friday, was located and arrested by Deputy Sheriff Sharp, Sperry and Steele early Saturday evening, and placed in the city jail.

She occupied a cell there Saturday night, and will be held there pending arrangements for her return to Montana for prosecution upon a charge of adultery.

Kittleson, unaided by the authorities, located his wife and child at 215 West Fourth South street, Friday, the first trace he had gained of her in a search for months, but she was quickly escaped him. Through a woman living in the neighborhood he learned of her whereabouts and went to get the child.

After a long, tearful conference with her husband and the officers, Mrs. Kittleson was placed in a room at the Knutsford hotel, where she is being held for the Montana authorities. As she will likely fight being transferred to that state, extradition papers will be necessary, and it may be several days before the change can be made.

The Sheriff's office Saturday night took up the search for Mrs. Kittleson, with the intent of bringing her back from her home after alienating her affections from her husband. At first Sheriff Emery said he had a good idea where she was, but about midnight he was told that she was in the city. The search was then given up for the night.

The details of Mrs. Kittleson's arrest as to where she was found and with whom the baby boy has been left.

Mrs. Kittleson, with his daughter, has been in Salt Lake for months, looking for his wife and O'Brien. The search for the wife was heavily refused to be held to return to him as to get possession of his boy, as he did not believe O'Brien would rear the lad fitly. He also seeks revenge upon O'Brien for destroying his home.

O'Brien brought the wife and child to Salt Lake to seek work. It is said, but did not intend stopping here at first, his real destination being Nevada mining fields.

Mrs. Kittleson was understood to be preparing to leave the city when arrested, and it is possible that her paramour has fled.

Mrs. Kittleson, it is understood, was found at 226 South Eleventh East street, with a respectable family, upon which she had imposed. The boy was left with that family.

POLICEMAN ON VACATION HELPS A LOCAL OFFICER

It was second nature for L. D. Compton, policeman at Colorado Springs, Colo., who is on vacation here, to spring in and help Policeman Woods subdue Fred Long, in the throes of a drunken spree, Saturday night, when he saw that it was with difficulty that the temporarily insane man was being controlled. Policeman Compton, who had brought thanks from Policeman Woods, and to the "coppers" becoming acquainted with him.

Long, quieted down at the station and gave his name. It was learned that he had been heavily brought to the foreward with a sled hammer two or three weeks ago, the blow nearly crushing his skull, and since then slight indulgence in intoxicating liquors deranges him mentally.

FERRINAND DICKERT CLAIMED BY DEATH

Old and Well-Known Mining
Man Dies at Home in This City.

Before his illness Mr. Dickert spent a great deal of time traveling with his family. He has toured all of America and nearly all of the European countries. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Wilma Dickert, and four children.

CHARGES AGAINST MEN ROUNDED UP

County Attorney Hanson Will Issue Complaints for Them Monday.

POLICE DRAGNET GOT BUNCH OF OFFENDERS

Two Additional Men Taken in Saturday; Stolen Articles Identified.

County Attorney Willard Hanson Monday will issue complaints against Richard Deming, Joe and May Donovan, Edward Olson and Mike Lynch, caught in the dragnet thrown out by the police for the holdup men, burglars and grip and suitcase thieves the first of the week. Deming will be charged with robbery, the Donovans with third-degree burglary, Olson with petit larceny and Lynch with complicity in Donovan's burglaries.

The strongest piece of evidence against Deming so far is his identification by Daniel Webster, negro, as one of the men who held him up several days ago and relieved him of $1. When Webster appeared at the city jail and identified Deming, the latter broke down and confessed. His partner in the holdup, Thomas Parker, is serving a ten-year sentence in the Utah State prison now for the robbery of Webster.

Each day adds strong evidence against all the prisoners. Donovan Saturday was identified as one of the men who committed burglaries and robberies in the Daly, Angelus and Eagle rooming houses, and Deming was identified as having been concerned in the robbery of J. M. Morris, railway conductor, at the Eagle house. He was identified by the pair of shoes he wore at the time of the robbery and at his arrest.

J. C. Goss, roomer at the Angelus, identified a matchbox taken from Olson that he had owned for years. The finding of the article on Olson and the subsequent identification of it by Goss make it easy to make out a petit larceny case against him.

The police last Saturday night were laboring to unearth the rest of the loot the prisoners have concealed.

Two more of what are believed to be members of the gang of crooks arrested were rounded up by Policemen Curran and Kelly Saturday morning for the alleged burglary of the Robinson shoe store. The men gave the names of William Casey, 28 years old, and Mike Irving, 43. They were caught in the Red Onion saloon, on Commercial street, while they were trying to dispose of a part of their booty.

Casey and Irving are alleged to have broken into a showcase at the shoe store and taken therefrom two pairs of high-top shoes valued at $5 each. When found in the Red Onion they were trying to sell the shoes for $1 a pair. They are charged with petit larceny.

DELIVERS LECTURE ON THE DARK CONTINENT

Commissioner Kilbey, of Salvation
Army, Addresses Large Audience.

Commissioner George A. Kilbey, Western commander of the Salvation army, lectured at the Salt Lake Theater Saturday evening on "Lights and Shades on the African Continent." The lecture was illustrated with 230 stereopticon slides which were reproductions of kodak pictures taken by Mr. Kilbey during the five years that he spent in South Africa and the Transvaal. Arriving two days before the ultimatum in the Boer war, he remained through the entire conflict, and the unusual photographs he made attest the fact that he passed through many thrilling and novel experiences. Among many other war pictures was one of the graveyards on the field where an entire brigade of Scandinavian troops were mowed down by the British artillery. Others included the famous breaching-loading rifle called "Long Tom," the gun that played such havoc with the Boer forces, and the shells that were fired by the Boer in retaliation on Christmas day during the awful siege that distinguished the inhabitants for their heroism.

Most of the lecture was devoted to a display of the achievements of the Salvation army throughout Africa from Cape Town, in the extreme south, up to Beira and Salisbury, on the east coast, the food depots, lodging-houses, maternity hospitals and other necessary institutions were shown. In Cape Town the headquarters occupy a thoroughly modern building, representing an outlay of $40,000.

One of the features of the work throughout Africa is a series of truck farms, which are conducted by released prisoners. In addition to this, there are a number of large poultry and dairy establishments, which have been conducted on a profitable basis.

The supervisory duties of Mr. Kilbey necessitated his traveling from railway points sometimes as far as 400 miles by mule stage, and frequently by ox team. These journeys inland over a country of peculiar topography were described graphically. Native converts to Christianity were shown at every age, and these included a large representation of both sexes.

The entire lecture, aside from its wealth of historical matter, served to show in a convincing manner that the labors of the Salvation army in the African continent have had a civilizing effect upon many tribes of people that lived in a state of semi-savagery, in addition to having accomplished the usual good results among the derelicts of many fallen men and women in such large cities as Johannesburg and other places.

Commissioner Kilbey will conduct the meeting at the local Salvation army headquarters this morning, and will visit the State penitentiary during the afternoon. His final lecture will be given at the Salt Lake Theater this evening.

He was met here by Captain Campbell of the Los Angeles Salvation army, who proposes another social and industrial building for that city, the present one having proven so successful that it can not sustain the patronage, that is constantly increasing.
